Each charter school hasdifferentiated approach amicably resolar complaints that an individual or group may bring to the board of trustees alleging a violation of the provisions of the New York Charter Schools Act, the charter, or any other provision of law relating to the management or operation of the school. These approaches are generally set forth in the charter school's charter, charter agreement by laws, and authorize approved policies and procedures. As a resource, the NYSED Charter School Office has developed this lies from tive practices that have been implemented in charter schools across the state. This resource is intended to serve as a conversation starter for your school staff.

Education Law §2855(4) outlines a threep processor complaints regarding charter schools, as follows:

- e. Whydid the concernoccur?
- f. Whatisanacceptablesolution?
- 6. Provide information on how parents of other stakeholders can resolve complaints informally. Be seen as a resourch! is important for parents to have a voice and feel that their concernshave been heard.
- 7. Includeup-to-date contact information for the bard of trusteesand the school's authorizer in the complaint policystudent/family handbookand the school's discipline policynsure that all documents contain the same version of the policy.
- 8. Reach out to stakeholders, including parents notified by NYSED/the authorizer of an imminent complaint.
- 9. Develop an internal protocol and timeline for investigations and decisions by the bdasd. takes a lot of the unknown out of the process and ensures that all stakeholders know what has to happen and when to address polarints. The process should include a procedure for acknowledging receipt of the complaint so that complainants know their concerns are being addressed.
- 10. Reach out to the NYSED Charter School Office for assistance (edgelatoged special education evaluations). We are here as a resource.
- 11. In an emergency:
 - a. Ensure student safety
 - b. Contact emergency services and/or law enforcement, as needed;
 - c. Contactthe school's attorney for advice on how to proceeded
 - d. Contact your authorizer to provide information keep them updated so they do not first learn about school related incidents through a complaint or in the news. The more proactive schools are, the better your authorizer is able to help the school work through the issue at hand.
